

Presented by the Association to Preserve Cape Cod (APCC)

An Emerging Concern ~ Cyanobacteria in Freshwater Ponds

Innovative Monitoring for Local Management and Protection of Public Health

FRIDAY, APRIL 5th

Harbor View Room, Barnstable County Complex

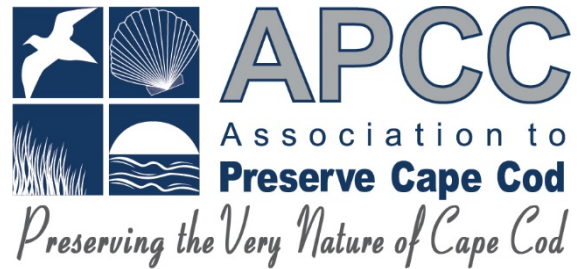

8:30am-11:30am

Registration required at www.APCC.org

For town officials in health and natural resource departments, pond association representatives, members of boards of health and conservation commissions, and interested members of the public.

<https://www.mass.gov/environmental-license-plates>

AGENDA

- 8:15-8:45 Sign In; Coffee
- 8:45-9:00 Opening remarks by Andrew Gottlieb, APCC Executive Director
- 9:00-9:30 Freshwater Ponds ~ An Overview of Threats to Water Quality – Mark Nelson, Principal, Horsley-Witten Group
- 9:30-10:00 The Science Behind A Rapid Assessment Cyanobacteria Monitoring Method - Nancy Leland, University of New Hampshire, Lim-Tex
- 10:00-10:15 – Break
- 10:15-10:30 APCC's cyano-monitoring program - Bryan Horsley, APCC Restoration Technician and cyano program coordinator
- 10:30-10:45 Town of Barnstable's monitoring program - Karen Malkus, Barnstable Coastal Health Resource Coordinator
- 10:45- 11:15 Q&A and Panel Discussion with Presenters - Moderated by Dr. Jo Ann Muramoto, APCC Director of Science Programs
- 11:15- 11:30 Wrap Up & Next Steps